2016 SEASON

- Work for the remainder of the construction season is wrapped up. Work completed to date is all road repair work leading to Ivars Bridge is complete. Access on the Ivars Road and the Tribal route is open to the public and there is no construction activity to impeded public traffic. Bridge components have been stock piled at the Ivars Bridge and the existing Ivars Bridge is still intact.
- For the remainder of the winter no construction activity is expected to occur until May 15, 2017. D&L has already shut down for this season and all equipment and material has been placed in storage for the duration of the winter.
- Also, local residents are asked to help in keeping an eye on all materials and equipment that have been left in Fort Yukon. The Ivars Road Bridge project is an important component of the community. The bridge will provide improved access across the Sucker River, which leads to subsistence areas as well as timber for homes and heat. Please discourage and report any acts of vandalism on equipment and stored materials.
- As a final note, being in Fort Yukon has been quite an adventure for me. The area has been a unique experience and it has been a privilege to take part in this untamed beauty. The landscape is truly awesome and truly embodies the heart of Alaska. Fort Yukon is a monument to Alaska's state motto, because it is here you find the Last Frontier. Have a safe winter and I'll see you next season!
